JOHN J. HALSEY PRIVATE LIBRARY PURCHASED

Fine Selection of Books on Political Science Subjects Now the Property of Lake Forest University

Through the generous efforts of Mrs. George Fisher of Lake Forest and other interested townspeople, the entire private library of our late beloved professor, Dr. John J. Halsey, who was connected with our faculty for more than forty years, has recently become the property of Lake Forest University. It is placed at the present time in a special room at the Durand Institute, but in time will be moved to the Reid Memorial Library.

All those who studied under Dr. Halsey and were acquainted with the keenness and alertness of his mind, know what a variety of things claimed his interest and attention—and how wide and varied his reading was is evidenced by his selection of the books he chose to have around him.

There are about 3,500 volumes in his library, covering a wide range of subjects and especially strong in those things he was most interested in—political science and economics.

No former student who has been privileged to know Dr. Halsey and to study under his tutelage can think of Lake Forest without also bringing to mind that splendid man who spent

AN IDEA FOR YOU, PERHAPS

Alumna Tells How She Advertises Lake Forest to the Community

President Herbert M. Moore, Lake Forest, Ill.

Dear Dr. Moore:

I am in receipt of the circular letter from Messrs M. W. Woolsey and A. J. Hennings, containing information in regard to the present status of Lake Forest College, and asking each Alumnus to "Do His Duty" and advertise the College in his community.

I am proud of my Alma Mater and of the fact that I was able to do my bit in response to the Loyalty Fund, and I want to tell you of an organization here in which I can help advertise Lake Forest.

I came here in September to teach mathematics in the high school which has an enrollment of over 800 students. The principal is a very ambitious man, who has always felt that some organization could be launched in our school to interest students in higher education.

He placed me as sponsor of an organization he formed called the College Club. The purpose of this club is to study various kinds of schools,—universities, colleges, technical schools and denominational schools; study entrance requirements, see that the standards are made high enough so that students can enter college without conditions, give members of the club some inside knowledge of college life, study college traditions and songs, ways and means of working one's way through college, and in all ways to encourage more students to seek a college education.

Our programmes have consisted of addresses from graduates of Syracuse, Ames and Cornell, and we have had the President of the Alumni Association of Oberlin College speak to us. Just last week we had as our guest Miss Ellen Pendleton, Presi-

Alumni Are Strongly Urged to Seek out Good College Material and Talk Lake Forest

Now is the time to look around for the right kind of students for next year, and we Alumni are the ones to do it.

Records of the past show that the great majority of new students to register at Lake Forest are sent here, directly or indirectly, by Alumni. The former students at Lake Forest are her greatest asset — without them to tell others why Lake Forest is the place to go to college, our Alma Mater would be in sore distress. Year after year some of them at least sing her praises loud enough to be heard by those high school students who are seeking a college home.

Now what Lake Forest wants is to have that usual number of enthusiastic Lake Foresters increased so that it is 100% of all those students who have left her college doors. If every one of you who have studied here and received the benefit of her guidance and teaching would go out and find just one high school student — one whom you could be proud to send to Lake Forest — a good all-around man or woman who values a college education — if you would pin that student down and talk Lake Forest to that man or woman, talk it so that that student could not help seeing that Lake Forest is the one place to go to college — if each one of you would do that — the campus would be so full that we would have to build new dormitories, and there would never be the need of worrying over whether Lake Forest was in danger of becoming a girls' school, or whether there would be a deficit next year, or a thousand other things that trouble us now.

That is what Lake Forest needs — students — good earnest men and women who come to study, primarily, and incidentally to learn through well-conducted activities — athletics, dramatics, editorial work, religious organizations and the like — the even more valuable lesson of responsibility and leadership. We don't want mental prodigies alone or men who shine in the social graces only — but 75 good all-around freshmen who can study and play with equal zeal would do more for Lake Forest right now than any amount of Alumni good intentions.

The first semester is almost over. Final exams start the 28th of January. Registration for second semester has already taken place, and from the looks of things there are quite a few new students entering in the second semester — a rather unusual thing, and a most encouraging sign.

It is probably too late now to talk Lake Forest to a student for this year, though if you know of anyone, send in his or her name anyhow, but this is the time that high school students make up their minds where they will go next year — so right now is the time to get them in tow, dust off your latest Forester, and talk Lake Forest.

A while ago we published a list of the states and towns represented this year by new students. On that list there was not a city or town in Iowa which sent a single new student. Judging from the mailing list of Alumni living in Iowa, it would seem as though they were either very much out of touch with the coming generation or all away on extended vacations. Let's not have that happen again next year Iowa, — for the college counts on always having a few in its midst from Ottumwa, Sioux City, Des Moines, Davenport, Waterloo and Dubuque.

ON THE CAMPUS

In December, Fred Darch of 1912, came out and gave the students of the economics classes an interesting talk on stocks and bonds as dealt with in the Chicago and New York markets. His talk was followed by one by Fred Bates of 1915, who is now chief accountant of the Illinois Trust & Savings Bank of Chicago. He outlined the working organization of a modern and progressive large city bank. Besides being a very fine thing for the business classes to hear from men with practical and expert experience along the particular lines they are studying it is well worth while to have them meet with dent of Wellesley College. Our field is unlimited, and if Lake Forest can send me any material which would help us I will see that it is put in the library for reference.

Yours very truly,
J. E. W., '08

If you have wondered before this what you could do to get an entering wedge into the high schools for Lake Forest, this answers your problem. The high school in your neighborhood may have just such an organization, which needs Lake Forest booster material, or one might be formed if you suggested it. The general advantage of such a club is apparent, even while leaving Lake Forest entirely out of it, and once the club is formed, Lake Forest could easily be brought into it in a most impressive way. You don't even have to be a teacher to boost Lake Forest. All you need is to be in a community where there is a high school — and there are very few of you who don't answer that requirement.

We might add that right now there is plenty of material in the College office that will be sent you for the asking to boost Lake Forest sky-high. Such material is being prepared all the time. One thing we have is a series of photographs of Lake Forest campus scenes — new photographs, suitable for framing. They are gradually being supplied to all Alumni. If you haven't yet received them, sent for them. We want you to show these pictures to prospective students — or have them framed and hung in some prominent place in the high school, Y. M. C. A. building or club rooms near you.

Goals of Alumni Association for 1922

In order that there may be placed before the alumni body of Lake Forest some definite objects for accomplishment during 1922, the following have been adopted as the goals of the Association for the year:

1. The name of at least one prospective student from each alumnus.
2. A campaign of constructive publicity designed to more thoroughly acquaint the people of the Middle West with Lake Forest College and what it offers to students.
3. Active support of President Moore in his determination to make Lake Forest College second to none in its ability and reputation for building men and women.
4. A closer knitting together of the Alumni body through the constant distribution to them of information regarding the progress of the College and through the reviving of the Lake Forest Alumni clubs throughout the country.
5. Every alumnus a subscriber to the 1922 Loyalty Fund.

The officers of the Association will welcome enthusiastically any suggestions from Alumni as to possible procedure for the accomplishment of these purposes, either in the country as a whole or in the individual communities. Such suggestions should be sent to the Alumni Secretary at Lake Forest.

our Alumni who are making a success of the lines the students wish to follow.

On Tuesday before Thanksgiving, the Garrick Club presented a play "The Big Idea", by A. E. Thomas and Clayton Hamilton. About 500 people were in attendance at the Institute. The Garrick Club hopes to arrange exchange performances with several other college dramatic clubs, Beloit being one of them.

On the evening of December 12th, President Moore entertained the men at the Commons. Among the speakers were Mayor of Lake Forest, Henry A. Rumsey, '94; John H. S. Lee, of '96; and Fred Hayner of '97, sport editor of the Chicago Daily News.

the finest years of his life and gave of the best of his strength to make Lake Forest what it is. Every college has its great men, and among our greatest, Dr. Halsey is surely counted. As a fine teacher, an inspired lecturer, an earnest scholar, and a fearless Christian we all knew him, and more than that, he was always our very good friend. An Alumnus never thought of coming back to Lake Forest in the days of Dr. Halsey's service here, without stopping up the road at his home; there to sit with him in his study for a few moments visit — a talk that would be long remembered, both because of the warmth and sincerity of the welcome awaiting every Lake Forester there and for the inspiration one always got from him.

John J. Halsey was born in Louisville, Ky., in 1848. He took his B. A. and M. A. at the University of Chicago in '70 and '73, and later on a degree of L.L.D. at Center College, Ky. After being for a time instructor at the University of Chicago, and going into business and newspaper work in Chicago, he became Instructor and Professor of Rhetoric and English at Lake Forest in 1878. The next year he was appointed D. K. Pearsons Professor of Political and Social Science, a position he occupied with the greatest success until his death in 1919. Twice during that time he was acting President of the University, both in 1896-97, and 1906-07.

While Dr. Halsey did not publish any complete works, he was a frequent contributor of critical reviews for "The Dial" and other periodicals, became a recognized authority on local history, and was extremely active as a lecturer, conducting for many years a series of classes in "Current Events" for residents of Lake Forest, Chicago and vicinity.

During the world war he threw himself into this last work more than ever, spending whole days up at the Naval Training Station at Great Lakes and speaking in many places on the political problems of the time, subjects which the people were so eager to know about. It was this war work which undermined a constitution that had never been strong, and in the last days of May, 1919, he passed away. He was mourned deeply not only by the College, and Alumni bodies, but by the entire community, of which he had been a loyal citizen and ardent worker for years; and on June 8, 1919, a memorial service for him was held in the Lake Forest Presbyterian Church, which he has served long and faithfully.

It is eminently fitting, therefore, that his books, the valued companions of his study and research, should occupy an honored place among the volumes of our college library, as his name occupies a high position in our college history — and in each book a memorial bookplate will be placed, as a tribute to the noble life of its original owner.

Those of the Alumni who were able to hear some of the Bross Lectures last spring, delivered by Dr. John P. Peters, D.D., noted archaeologist and Rector Emeritus of St. Michael's Episcopal Church in New York, will be grieved to hear of his recent death.

The college has been fortunate in securing several well-known ministers of Chicago to speak in chapel lately. On Dec. 8th, Dr. Asa Ferry, D.D., of the Edgewater Presbyterian church, spoke. We had Rev. Josiah Sibley, D.D., of the Second Presbyterian Church on Dec. 13th.

COLLEGE HALL -- Where Department of Biology is Located

For many years Lake Forest has been fortunate in having men at the head of the Biology department, who later achieved national recognition, as a result of their scientific work. Wm. A. Locy, ('87-'95) now head of the Zoology department at Northwestern University, has become one of the leading historians of biology as well as an accomplished anatomist. R. A. Harper, ('96-'98) is a leader in the field of Botany, now at Columbia University. James G. Needham ('98-'07) has distinguished himself as a specialist in the ecology of fresh water animals and plants and John Merle Coulter of the University of Chicago, is also a recognized expert in the morphology and physiology of plants. Cornelius Betten (L. F. '00) ('07-'16) a true biologist is professor at Cornell University, and Dean of the Agricultural school there. Warder C. Allee ('16-'21), who left L. F. last June to become Professor at University of Chicago, is a phymologist and ecologist of note, who served as national secretary of the American Society of Zoologists during the past year.

Lake Forest is therefore proud of the traditions connected with her Biology Department.

One of the regular events connected with the biology courses has been the attendance of one or more students at the great marine laboratory at Woods Hole, Mass., during the summer, where Lake Forest has been listed for a long time as "subscribing and cooperating institution."

For several years Prof. Allee has been an instructor there in the course on Invertebrate Zoology and Prof. Harper is a member of the research staff of the division of Botany, there also.

Enough money has been provided in various ways each year to defray part of the expenses of the Lake Forest students who attend. This year the department finds itself without the necessary funds to continue this important aspect of its work. Prof. Cole, now at L. F., and the whole college are loathe to see the name of Lake Forest dropped from the list of Woods Hole subscribers, but unless the money can be raised (about $150), that will happen.

A special appeal is therefore to be made to the Alumni who are chiefly interested in scientific work, in the hope that the response will preserve L. F. traditions and continue the name of Lake Forest among the American colleges which support biological research.

MORE CAMPUS NOTES

The Chapel on Wednesday before Christmas was set apart as a special Christmas service. The Lois Hall Glee Club sang several carols, Dean Kehr gave a talk on Christmas hymns, and a faculty quartet of Dr. Ellingwood, Dr. Cole, Prof. Rhind and Mr. MacPherson, sang also.

On Jan. 7th, the annual Junior Prom of the college was given at the Institute. The hall was decorated with red and black. Among the Prom guests were Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Findlay, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Dean, Stanley Anderson, Kathryn Horton, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. C. Mather, Loveridge Martin, Ruth Hendrickson, Gertrude Loop, Richard Abernathy, Mildred Zenos, Martin Mayeau, and Ewart Hall.

Before Christmas, Raymond Moore, '20, and Grant McColley, '21, visited the campus. Ray Moore sang at chapel, and Grant McColley gave a short talk on his work at the Missouri Military Academy, Mexico, Mo., where both men are teaching.

A debate with Ripon is scheduled for the near future by the Department of Public Speech, directed by Mr. Armstrong of Northwestern U. The question will be the Compulsory Arbitration of Strikes in Public Utilities. Lake Forest will have the affirmative.

Mrs. Herbert M. Moore gave a series of afternoon teas last week for the girls of Lois Hall and faculty.

University Club was entertained on Friday, Jan. 20th, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Barnes of Lake Forest.

This is the place for general discussions of College and Alumni problems.

THE ACID TEST OF LOYALTY

It is hard to define the spirit of loyalty. We all know what it is — that sense of pride, of tenderness which wells up within us at the thought of something dear to our hearts—home, family, friends, country, college. It is the spirit which creates in us the determination to stand by the object of our loyalty, no matter what the odds, perhaps at the cost of considerable personal sacrifice.

Loyalty to our college may mean a pride in saying, "I am an Alumnus of Lake Forest." It may mean memories of our happy, rather care-free days on the campus, of hours spent in the class room with professors from whom we received a real inspiration, of close-fought games on the football or baseball field, of evenings around the fireplace swapping stories. It will surely mean the thought of friendships that have continued to the present day, of old friends whom we have not seen for years. Whatever of these may be the elements of our spirit of loyalty, they all lead to the one end — the determination that we will stand by Lake Forest in every stage of her development, contributing as we may of our time, our service, our money — thankful that we can thus repay in some measure the debt we owe her.

Lake Forest needs such loyalty from her Alumni. In the present critical stage of her reconstruction she calls for our keenest interest and our most active support in all plans for increasing her usefulness and fame.

In another column of this issue will be found a statement of certain definite objects which the Alumni Association has set before itself for the coming year. The attainment of these objects will require from all of us gifts of service and money.

Will your loyalty stand the acid test when the call comes?

In case any Alumnus is yet in doubt about the personnel of the special Alumni boards and committees which were elected in June and have been serving this year, we print the names herewith:

The attention of the alumni is called to the following item:—

In the minutes of the Synod of Illinois for October 18-20, recently received, there was a report of Lake Forest College and also resolutions that were adopted by the Synod. The one resolution which interested Lake Forest very much was as follows:

(a) "To recommend that a movement be started to assist Christian education in the following institutions: Blackburn, James Milliken, Lincoln, Lake Forest, Illinois College and University of Illinois.

(b) That the funds raised shall be for endowment only.

(c) That the period for securing said endowment shall be three years from the time of starting the work.

(d) We further recommend that a business manager for this campaign be selected by the committee on Christian Education and approved by the Board of Education and by the College Presidents concerned and by representatives of the work at the University of Illinois."

Alumni may be interested in reading a book entitled "The Biological Foundations of Belief" written and published recently by Wesley Raymond Wells, Ph.D., Professor of Psychology and Philosophy at Lake Forest College, at the present time.

To teachers among the Alumni it may be interesting to know that Marguerite Kehr, Ph.D., Dean of Women at Lois Durand Hall, wrote her thesis on the subject of Curriculums, after she had devoted a great deal of time to the study of its problems. For any one seeking expert advice on that subject, her opinions would be highly valuable.

ALUMNI ENTERTAIN TEAM

Football Men are Awarded Their Letters at Alumni Dinner

Lake Forest students and Alumni were brought together recently at a dinner given the 1921 football team and Coach Glaze by the men of the Alumni Association on Friday, Jan. 20th, at the University Club in Chicago. Besides the full team, coach and manager, the guests included President Moore, Profs. McNeill, Van Steenderen, Ford, Coffin and Van der Westhuyzen and several prospective students.

After the crowd had gathered and the dinner — punctuated by frequent musical renderings of Lake Forest songs — had progressed happily to coffee and smokes, Toastmaster Jake Schwartz, '09, started the ball rolling with some appropriated remarks and stories which brought forth much applause. He was followed by A. O. Jackson, '96, who welcomed the team and in a few words gave his idea of what athletics at Lake Forest should be.

Mel Gray, '16, football captain under Coach Kennedy, gave the philosophy of how to win football games as practiced in his day.

Coach Glaze summed up the season's work last fall and sketched his plans for the coming year: Captain Russell of 1921 and Captain-elect Jackson also remarked in an encouraging way on next year's outlook.

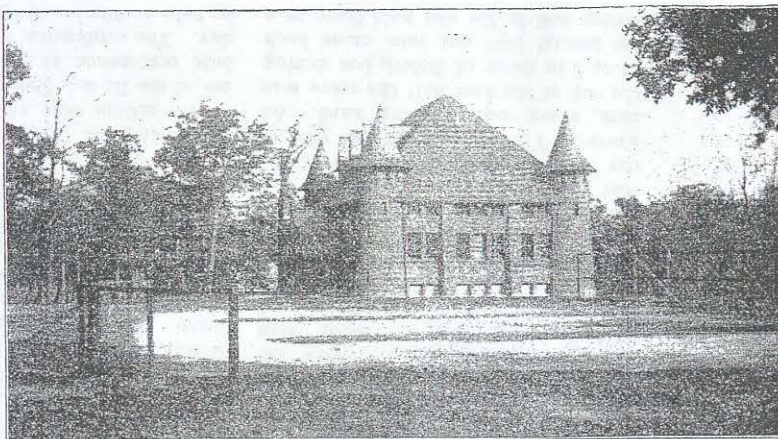

Representing the faculty, Dr. Moore and Prof. Ford spoke of the scholastic standing of Lake Forest and its relation to football.

Sig Marquis, '11, then turned the attention of the men to plans of the Alumni and especially of the Lake Forest Fund Association during this coming year.

The football sweaters were presented to the team with fitting remarks by Prof. van Steenderen.

Besides the guests and speakers, those present were:

Chairman on Arrangements

STRONG FOOTBALL SCHEDULE FOR 1922

One of the strongest football schedules in recent years is on its way to completion by Coach Glaze — and if we come through the season with a clean slate we can surely say that Lake Forest has "some team."

The schedule as it now stands is as follows:

Sept. 30—De Paul.
Oct. 7—Wabash.
Oct. 14—De Pauw.
Oct. 21—Northwestern College.
Oct. 29—Ripon — Homecoming.
Nov. 4—Beloit.
Nov. 11—Open.
Nov. 18—Bradley Tech.
Nov. 25—Milliken.

Every one of these colleges is a school in good standing in athletics — and there are no "snaps" among them. It is as strong a schedule as any in the "Little Nineteen", and it has been no easy task to secure dates with some of these teams. Lake Forest is going to need some mighty good football material, and she depends not a little on her Alumni to help discover it and bring it around. If you know of any good high school athletes, get in touch with Coach Glaze and give him their names. He will do the rest.

President Herbert M. Moore expects to be in New York City during the week of Feb. 13th. While there he hopes to meet many of the Lake Forest Alumni.

GLAZE OUT TO DEVELOP MATERIAL FOR TRACK THIS SPRING

Three Meets Scheduled

This year Lake Forest is going to make a strong bid to develop a winning team in track events. It is a department of athletics previously slighted, as for a good many years we have not had much of anything in track teams; but if we wish to maintain a standing among the other schools in athletics, a winning track team must be turned out as well as good team in football, basketball and baseball.

A meet has already been scheduled with Ripon this spring, and even before that, during the winter indoor season, Coach Glaze is planning on developing a mile relay team to be entered at the Illinois and Drake relays, besides entering in meets in the city — at the Illinois Athletic Club and the like.

Five or six men are working regularly and have shown enough ability to convince the coach that, with a little work, a very good team can be turned out. Among those practicing for the mile relay are Lee Jackson, Dale Hause, Bardwell, Willis, MacIntosh and Dougherty.

Ralph Bush, of 1911 has already written in to us, sending us names of six students for next year — three of them good football material. He is also sending us a student to enter second semester. If he can send the names of seven, you can hunt up one student for us anyway. Send the prospect's name—we'll do the rest.

BASKETBALL SEASON OPENS

First Three Games are Played

The basketball season is in full swing at Lake Forest now, and we are meeting very strong teams every week. So far the results, while not entirely disastrous have not been all that we could wish, but there is plenty of time yet to down some of the teams we have already met on return games.

Coach Glaze has been handicapped by the ineligibility of some of his best players, and has found it necessary to put men in the game who have had very little chance to play together in previous practice.

Therefore, considering that we have been running up against teams which, like DePauw, have beaten Northwestern University 27 to 19, and the like, we have made a very good showing.

The season opened with a game with Lombard at Lake Forest on Jan. 13. Timothy and Leaf, two of our best men, were out — and the Lake Foresters were, as a result, no match for their opponents, though they put up a plucky fight. The final score was 33 to 3 in favor of Lombard.

A much better game was played on Jan. 14 here — when Lake Forest held the much-talked-of basketball machine of De Pauw University to a 33-16 score. De Pauw came to Lake Forest fresh from a 34-32 victory over the University of Chicago and looked for an easy game. Coach Walker started the game with his second team, but soon filled up his line with first string men. Glaze gave every man on the squad a chance to work out against high-class competition, using twelve men before the game was over. It was hard-fought and fast all the way through, with sensational plays on both sides. At the close of the first half De Pauw led 24 to 9, but the Red and Black came back in the second period and held them 7 to 9 — which shows that Lake Forest has the material all right.

The fastest game so far, all-around was played on Jan. 21, when we met our friendly enemy, Beloit, at Lake Forest. The game went off with a rush, every man fighting hard. At the end of the first half the score was 15 to 5 in favor of Beloit, but during the second half our men came back strong and in the end held them to a 25 to 18 score. Beloit won many of their points by foul shooting, making five out of seven chances.

After the Knox game on Jan. 27, and Armour on Jan. 28, the team will start on a series of games which will be played on the opposing teams' floors. The games so far have been very good experience for our squad and we have every reason to expect much more favorable scores before the end of the season, as the team gets under way.

THE WOMEN ALSO PLAY

Anyone of you will admit that it looks like real business when you can get a crowd of Lois Hallers out for basketball practice on a Saturday morning at 10 o'clock — but it has been done. Practice has been under way ever since the Christmas holidays, and the Saturday morning crowd is a real crowd too.

There are two freshman and two upper class teams. A varsity team will be chosen from them, and it is possible that a game may be arranged with Ferry Hall. The Women's Athletic Association hopes to give sweaters to those making varsity and letters or numerals to the second team. The Class games will start the week following the exams, and a record crowd is promised.

NEWS NOTES

1880. Rev. Wm. R. Scott, whose former address was Scotland, S. D., is now pastor of the Presbyterian church of Philipsburg, Mont.

1885. Selby Vance, formerly of Lane Seminary, Cincinnati, Ohio, is now in Pittsburgh, at 237 Hilands Ave., Ben Avon.

1886. Alumni will be sorry to hear of the recent death of one of our number, William C. Godfrey, who attended Lake Forest College in the years 1886 to 1890. He was taken ill with pneumonia during the holidays, and passed away on the first day of January. Will Godfrey came to Lake Forest from Dixon, Ill. After leaving school he took up farming at Dixon, but later on located at Jerome, Idaho. Friends will recall that his wife, formerly Lily E. Ward, was also a Lake Forester, of the class of 1892. He leaves to mourn his loss, besides his wife, and several children, his sister, Katherine of the class of 1889, and Miss Ellen Ward of 1880, formerly a missionary to China, who has been making her home of late with Mr. and Mrs. Godfrey.

1890. Word has just come from the father of Harry E. Lufkin, who attended Lake Forest one term in 1886-87, that his son passed away on the 18th of December, 1921, in California. The body was brought back to be interred in the cemetery at Anna, Ill., his former home. Alumni join in extending their sympathy to the father in his bereavement.

1892. Judge Paul Myron Linebarger is now living in China, where he is practicing law with offices at 131, Szechuen Road, Shanghai. An excerpt from the Shanghai Gazette of April 23, 1920, headed "Industrial Loans for China" says — "The American Option Co., organized by ex-judge Paul M. Linebarger of the Shanghai International Bar is being instituted from an investment angle entirely new for China. Its organizer for many years has been trying to get an entering wedge into the Chinese industrial situation, and is the author of books discussing the industrial situation in China." The American Option Company is being formed with the purpose of bringing the American and Chinese capitalists together in joint operations, and to offer both opportunities for good and safe industrial investments.

1892. We got word about the first of January that Fred Skinner has been in the John Hopkins Hospital for an operation. Further report has come that he is gaining in health, and expects to be back at work in two or three weeks at Pittsburgh, Pa.

1900. William Mather Lewis spoke at the College Chapel on December 5th, giving a talk on what he was doing in Washington, punctuated with stories such as only he can tell them. The enthusiasm which the students displayed when he finished speaking indicated that he would be most welcome on the platform any time he chose to come again.

1901. Rev. Charles E. Rath of Tacloban, Leyte Island, P. I., arrived at his old home at Ackley, Ia., in time to join Mrs. Rath and their two boys for Christmas. The issue of the Philippine Presbyterian for October is largely taken up with an interesting description of the missionary work in Leyte, where Mr. Rath has been since 1903. The presumption is that he will be in this country for some months, and during that time the Ackley address will hold.

1902. Edna Lord Murphy, for several years instructor in Home Economics at Georgie Normal College, for the past two years has been at the Iowa State College at Ames, Ia., engaged in "establishing courses in Institutional work." She has also been pursuing there the long-deferred collegiate degree, and expects to receive her B.S. in June.

1905. Henry G. Ralston, elected some months since as one of the five commissioners of Miami, Florida, with charge of Police and Fire, has been having plenty of action. In co-operation with an efficient city manager he set out to clean up the town as to boot-legging and other abuses. Though supported cordially by the churches and the best elements, he has been temporarily defeated and has resigned his office. Judging from the newspaper comments on the situation the tide will flow back in favor of his stand before long.

1907. Mrs. (Ora Whitmore) Williams writes us from Yenchang, Hunan Province, China, where she is located at the Mission station of the Seventh Day Adventists. She is now sufficiently proficient in Chinese to be teaching a class of Chinese students English and takes special delight in her American garden, with flowers and so many pumpkins that she doesn't know what to do with them.

Bush, assistant principal of the high school, has been offered a position as dean of the Toledo Junior College, which has an enrollment of 1,200 and is in connection with the Toledo University, at Toledo, Ohio. History and social science have been the principal courses directed by Mr. Bush since coming to the Joliet High School in 1914, and in these studies he has attracted the attention of leading educators in all parts of the country. He has also developed a curriculum for the occupational class in the high school.

1914. (From the Chicago Tribune). Mr. and Mrs. Harold L. Ickes of Hubbard Woods, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Frances Thompson, to Willis ReQua Bryant, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Bryant of the Shore Crest Hotel of Chicago. The wedding will take place in the early spring.
